Practical Prepping (No Apocalypse Required): Companion Book To The Jakarta Pandemic And The Perseid Collapse Series

Synopsis

EXCLUSIVE ten-page Pandemic Primer included! Written by Steven Konkoly, author of The Jakarta Pandemic, the Pandemic Primer outlines a simple, no-nonsense strategy to approach a pandemic emergency. Take the first steps to protect your family from an outbreak of enterovirus, Avian Flu, Swine Flu, or Ebola and order now! PRACTICAL PREPPING: NO APOCALYPSE REQUIRED is a light-hearted, instructional look at practical readiness concepts that nearly ANYONE can embrace--without seriously interrupting your life or draining your bank account. This isn't a book about ditching the suburbs for a heavily defended, self-sufficient compound in the mountains. We explore practical first steps YOU can take to prepare for the disasters YOU are most likely to experience. Few people want to spend an inordinate amount of time and money preparing for something that is unlikely to happen. Neither do we! No Apocalypse Required to read this book. Randall S. Powers and Steven Konkoly offer a layered, foundational approach that can be tailored to YOUR circumstances and motivation level. We think you'll be surprised by how little time, effort and hard-earned cash you'll need to put into PRACTICAL PREPPING.

Steve Konkoly and Practical Tactical have teamed up and written a book that Demands to be read. If you're like me when you try to Prep or try to organize or prioritise what you need to gather, it's easy to just end up spinning in the mud cause the most difficult part has been to get pointed in the right direction. Well Help has FINALLY ARRIVED! It's been a while since I've been this excited about a book, but this one is a GEM !! Not just filled with exciting tips but actually will show you how to prioritize and Structure. I've been wanting to start prepping for a couple years now but never (except for the Guns lol) never knew where to begin and how to structure it. I Do Now ! This can be done and done Sensibly !! Listen...I love Apocalyptic Anything but generally stay away from books on Prepping. Most of them basically say the same garbled stuff. THIS IS NOT THE CASE WITH PRACTICAL PREPPING !! Read it. Read it Now. Don't let this one by in the times we live in. This book was written with giving you the REALISTIC TAKE on prepping

An insightful, entertaining guide to survival and the development of a survivalist's mentality. The blend of Konkoly's signature thriller fiction to illustrate key points and the conversational, yet informative perspective of the two authors in tandem, makes for a captivating read. Together, the authors cover every catastrophe that comes to mind when discussing the "big bad." Perhaps this reader's favorite aspect of this book: The authors focus on the layman's preparation for disaster, asking the question "what are you trying to survive?" I found this to be a refreshing approach - challenging not only those who view prepping as bizarre, but those who take prepping to overzealous levels. It's a very evenhanded approach, and one dexterously handled by Konkoly and Powers.

Not only is this an excellent resource, it's written by two of the best in the field. Steven Konkoly, a former Marine, writes both thriller and dystopian fiction. Randall Powers, founder of Practical Tactical, provides planning and training for individual worst case scenario planning. A recommended read.

This book gives a practical overview of some of the subjects involved in preparing for several types of disaster scenarios in a way that illustrates them without a lot of hype or scare tactics. "Just the facts" with the sense of urgency that being prepared for the worst while hoping for the best that preparation should have.

Really gets you thinking what you need to do. I know I'm not really prepared, so now I have a really good place to start. And the first place to start is not shopping; rather think what you really need. The figure out what and how much you'll need for yourself and others in your family. Thanks guys.

this is an interesting approach to the subject. the concepts of preparedness are broken down into categories and presented from two different POVs, with emphasis always on what the READER wants to do. We do all have our different opinions of when and how the S will HTF, and that is what they tell you to prepare for. They talk about different levels of being prepared what ever your scenario. I enjoy Konkoly's fiction, and he brings that entertaining writing style to this book. Powers is a professional preparedness consultant and brings that to balance Konkoly's thoughts.

Great book even if you're not actually planning on going down the preparedness road. It does give the information as far as what specific supplies one would need for disaster situations. However, I think the main take-away of this book is how to think in a more prepared and educated way about everyday situations that people may take for granted because of the quality of life many of us now have. It encourages you to not only learn about your environment, but to develop a connection with it as well. The authors takes a ground-up approach that makes, what appears to be a huge endeavor, seem very manageable. They also try to help develop your individual priorities in tailoring your own unique style in preparedness. Lot of substance for such an entertaining read.

This is chock-full of information written in an entertaining style, making it an easy, informative read. I particularly appreciated the lists of items needed and the reasoning behind them. The "rule of threes" is great advice!
