The Secret Peace: Exposing The Positive Trend Of World Events

Synopsis

Recession. Terrorism. Global warming. There's no doubt that countless dire crises consume the world. And yet, positive change is also all around us, under the media's radar. Here is evidence of history's true trend: a convincing picture of declining war, advancing health, equal rights, revolutionary technology, and more, including the surprising reasons why peace is unfolding. This powerful shift in perspective-not trite "positive thinking" but a realistic look at a hidden truth-is needed now more than ever. The Secret Peace isn't an excuse to pat ourselves on the back, but a powerful call to action to step up our efforts to spread peace to all corners of the earth. ... Esther Dyson, author of Release 2.0 and expert on emerging technology, says, "I love the thesis, and believe it. Jesse Richards makes the case forcefully. ... It cheered me up!"

The Secret Peace: Exposing the Positive Trend of World Events This book is a dose of realism that actually feels good. Jesse Richards has scoured hundreds of credible sources of the world's data and painted a picture that realistically looks positive. He picks out data and facts that paint a picture of trends that are on the upswing. As obvious as it sounds, he points to the rising rates of literacy, how knowledge doubles before our very eyes, how plagues are averted and diseases exterminated, the rise of democracy (especially electronic) and the demise of poverty. In his artistic patchwork of forward leaning data he shows us a humanity that may be leaving its very violent and destructive adolescence, and entering (Hallelujah!) an adulthood that is bringing us closer and closer to actual, honest to God, universal peace. His collection of quotes by itself is a powerful reason to own this new and fresh book. One of my all time favorites from a man who was a very realistic visionary, Dr.

M.L. King: "the arc of the moral universe is long but it bends towards justice. It bends towards justice, but here is the thing: it does not bend on its own. It bends because each of us in our own ways put our hand on that arc and we bend it in the direction of justice..." Jesse Richards holds a realistic mirror up to humanity and says "you have a dreadful history, but, you have done better in the last one hundred years than you have done in the previous 5,000 years, and the future could be much, much brighter. Keep up the good work." This book makes me feel good about what is coming up in the future! But it is not a feeling that comes from anesthesia or some mind-altering drug. It is a future that looks mega-watts brighter than our very troubled past.
